

I have been to almost every play at LLT... But this one blew me away big time! WOW!!!

Don Beaudreau -Lakeside News Reviewer. There's Something Rotten! in the state of Jalisco and it's a non-stop delight at Lakeside Little Theatre from February 27-March 10. Audiences will have a chance to visit the Shakespearian era through snappy dialogue, soaring song, and spirited dance—the triple joy of a grand musical.

Premiering on Broadway in 2015, Something Rotten! is the fabricated story of how the first musical was created by fictitious brothers Nick and Nigel Bottom who are attempting to be successful playwrights. Nick consults the nephew of the great Nostradamus who sees a new kind of play in the future, one with singing and dancing—something called a "musical."

Nick believes this is his chance to overthrow his archrival, the Renaissance Rock Star, Will Shakespeare, who in his song "Will Power" is called the "king of couplets" and the "sultan of sonnets." Still, Will confesses in "It's Hard to Be the Bard" that "it's sexy, but it's hard."

The show is non-history at its funniest, a grand farce full of anachronisms, brought to the stage by a highly talented cast of 10 principal actors, 16 ensemble members, 10 musicians, and 16+ dancers!

Nothing but applause to the director, Tim Johnson who previous audiences will recall as Pilate in Jesus Christ Superstar, director The World Goes Around!, and as Don Quixote in Man of La Mancha. He is ably assisted by Stage Manager Chris Philipson.

William Shakespeare, portrayed by Nathaniel Pusey, shows massive versatility as both actor and vocalist. He even looks like a rock star!

Nick (Tim Johnson) and Nigel (Jim Houle) play off each other with brotherly give-and-take affection. Nick has the business acumen, allowing Nigel to be the sensitive poet, from whom Shakespeare liberally borrows.
